No One Party To Run Ireland

Costello Best Bet To Form Coalition

By TOM OCHILTREE
DUBLIN, Ireland—(P)—Irish voters found today their ballots produced one clear conclusion—several parties, rather than a single one, will have to form a new government. Prime Minister John A. Costello appears to have the best chance to head the new combine, already under study.

Costello led the coalition that governed the Irish republic for the past three years. He put up a stiff fight against former Prime Minister Eamon De Valera's fiancée fall (soldiers of destiny) in Wednesday's general election.

Fianna Fail had hoped to win a clear majority and gain control of the Dail, the influential lower House of Parliament. The party won more votes than any other, but fell short of its goal, winning only 69 of the 147 seats. Its members held 67 in the old Dail.

Final standings were Fianna Fail, 69 seats; the four coalition parties centered in Costello's Fine Gael (united Ireland), 64 seats; Independents, 14.

Deeper Cut Ordered In Auto Production

WASHINGTON—(P)—The government today ordered a new cut in auto production on July 1. It will limit output to about 1,200,000 cars during the July-September period.

The National Production authority (NPA) said the order, completely revising auto industry controls, will mean a reduction of about one third or more from the nearly 1,900,000 cars produced during the same July-September quarterly period a year ago.

It will allow about 200,000 fewer cars than the estimated 1,400,000 units being produced in the current April-June quarter.

Bear Kill Brings Excitement For Escanaba Friday

Escanaba had a half-hour flurry of excitement late Friday afternoon when men, women and children joined state and city police in a bear hunt throughout the south side residential district.

The chase ended when James Tweedy and Edward Coplan, Escanaba city police officers, fired several 38 caliber pistol shots into the yearling bruin in the rear yard of a duplex dwelling at 306 South Fifth street. The animal weighed 125 pounds, according to Conservation Officer Allen Tweedy who put it on the scales before disposing of the carcass.

Many Telephone Calls
Escanaba police received about twenty-five calls, beginning about 4:30 p. m., when the bear crossed the Escanaba Golf club course. Mrs. Arthur Carlson, 914 South 13th street, reported her son, Neil, saw the black form moving across the Escanaba senior high school playground and then northward on South 13th street.

Walter Wickert, 801 South 13th street, narrowly missed hitting the bear at the corner near his home, and hurried into the house to notify the conservation department. The bear casually went on the front lawn of the Albert Valind home, 1222 Eighth avenue south, stopped in front of the porch and looked up at Mary Kay Valind, 6 Mary Winkler, 7, and Richard Wilburn, 7.

"Mother, I just saw a bear," cried Mary Kay, excitedly, as she ran into the house.

State Will Be Broke Again By Next June, Auditor Points Out

LANSING—(P)—Auditor General John B. Martin, Jr., declared today that before June of 1952 the state will be out of cash and will be forced to stop paying its bills. Martin said that even if the legislature, when it returns June 28, increases the corporation franchise tax some $14,000,000, the state's deficit by the end of the next fiscal year will have reached $65,000,000.

"Since the state has no power to borrow except by vote of the people," Martin said, "we are already insolvent in the sense that our current obligations exceed our current income."

"We are now spending cash which is already obligated for other purposes by prior action of the legislature. While this is not trust fund money, it does represent money which we cannot properly spend now because it has already been allocated to other future purposes."

"If action is not taken to prevent this steady increase in the budget," Martin said, "we will eventually reach the point where the auditor general will have to stop writing checks and paying the state's bills, except as current revenue is available."

"That time will arrive before June, 1952, unless the situation is faced squarely now. This is a prospect which no official of state government, no member of the legislature and no member of the public can face without concern."

Martin said the state's cash balance has fallen from more than $102,000,000 in January of 1948 to less than $39,000,000 on May 25, 1951. It will get steadily lower, he said.

Windstorm Flings Acrobat To Death At Detroit Carnival

DETROIT—(P)—A carnival acrobat was flung to his death from the top of his 119-foot pole in a windstorm last night.

Alfred J. Forest, 24, San Francisco, performing with a traveling show, was the victim.

Police said the high wind snapped the pole eight feet from its top. Forest still clutched the broken part of the pole and his trapeze bar as he fell to earth. Two hundred fifty spectators saw his plunge.

A windstorm with gusts of hurricane velocity suddenly struck the Detroit area last night. After a half hour's blow, accompanied by rain and lightning, streets were strewn with debris.

The airport at Willow Run measured wind gusts of 98 miles an hour. In general, however, damage was limited.

Detroit Region Raked By High Wind; 2 Killed

Trees Toppled; Pole Lines Downed

(By The Associated Press)

At least two persons lost their lives Friday night as a violent wind and rain storm raked southeastern Michigan.

Killed were a carnival acrobat, flung from his broken 119-foot pole, and a Holt woman, fatally injured when a tree fell on her auto at Lansing.

Trailers Blown Over

Mrs. Ruth Whiting, 31, was the victim of the falling tree, which also critically injured her husband, Herman, 32, he is in St. Lawrence hospital, Lansing.

Four house trailers were tipped over by the wind south of Lansing. The only casualty was three-year-old Eddie Slocum, who suffered minor cuts. One barn was leveled near Lansing.

Apparently the spectacular late spring blow lashed the Detroit-Ann Arbor area the hardest. Gusts ranged up to 98 miles an hour.

Relief From Heat

Accompanied by rain and lightning, the storm hit wide sections of the Lower Peninsula, however. Long distance telephone service in a score or more cities was cut off. Power lines also were damaged.

Meanwhile, it brought relief from 90-degree heat. It was 91 in Battle Creek Friday.

In contrast, Marquette in the Upper Peninsula had 49 degrees. The U. S. weather bureau said some of that cooler air mass was moving south.

A storm of cyclonic proportions hit the Kalamazoo area around 8 p. m. The wind flattened the grandstand on the baseball diamond at Ramona Park. At West Lake a tree crashed on the cabin of Harry Smith.

In the Scotts area 12 miles south of Kalamazoo a number of barns and silos were blown down. The undenominational church at Cooper seven miles north of here, was struck by lightning but quick work by the fire department saved it.

In the Lansing area the wind lifted the second story from the home of Mark Adams, south of the city, and carried it 1,000 feet.

The northwest district of Detroit was hard hit. Police and fire departments received hundreds of calls of wires down across streets, homes and garages. Several fires were caused by lightning.

Adventists Train Men As Medical Corpsmen

WASHINGTON—(P)—The Seventh Day Adventist church—which condemns acts of violence including fighting in war—is helping train its young men for military service as medical corpsmen.

The church announced today that the first of three proposed training camps for "conscientious objectors" will open next Tuesday at Grand Lodge, Mich.

Carlyle B. Haynes, secretary of the Adventist War Service Commission, said about 300 men from states east of the Rockies will take the Michigan course in military training, at their own expense.

Political Pressure Lines Up Curry For Conservation Chief

By JAMES A. O. CROWE

LANSING—(P)—Some members of the conservation commission today charged that the governor's office was bringing political pressure to bear to force appointment of D. J. Curry of Marquette as conservation director.

Curry is Upper Peninsula regional chief for the conservation department.

Rumors that Curry had the inside track with the governor's office were fanned by a call Curry made on Governor Williams several weeks ago.

Four Against Rahilly

The affair came into the open late yesterday when Commissioner Lawrence J. Gotschall of Baldwin, who was appointed by Gov. Williams, appeared in the executive office.

Gotschall acknowledged that he had been summoned to the capital by Lawrence A. Farrell of Escanaba, the governor's executive secretary.

Three commissioners, headed by Joseph P. Rahilly of Newberry, have long favored Curry. The others are Donald B. McClouth of Detroit and Peter J. Calcaterra of Norway.

The four remaining commissioners, including Gotschall, had opposed the appointment of Curry because of fears that he would be under Rahilly's thumb. The four had often lined up against Rahilly in his two years as commission chairman, which ended last week.

Farrell Insistent

Farrell called Gotschall in to try to swing his vote in line with Rahilly and his two allies, but Gotschall emerged to report:

"I have not changed my mind. I have come out of the meat grinder unscathed."

Interestingly, Gotschall asked for a conference with the governor himself to make sure, he said, that the governor backed up Farrell's stand.

Gotschall reported that the governor was not nearly as insistent on Curry's appointment as Farrell and that the governor made no effort to "put the pressure" on Gotschall.

Commissioner George A. Griffith of Grayling, the other Williams appointee in the opposition camp, reported from his home that no effort had been made to pressure him and that his attitude toward Curry was still unchanged.

Last Of Jailed Krupp Executives Released From German Prison

FRANKFURT, Germany—(P)—U. S. High Commissioner John J. McLoey yesterday released the last of the top executives of the giant Krupp company, Germany's chief arms makers in Two World Wars.

He freed ailing Ewald Loeser, who was sentenced to seven years imprisonment at a war crimes trial in Nuremberg in July, 1948. Loeser had ranked next to Alfred Krupp in the indictment.

Alfred Krupp and eight other high officials of the company were freed last Jan. 31 after a review of their cases.

Dixie Prays For Rain, Nebraska Has Floods, Snowfall In Dakotas

(By The Associated Press)
Nature's elements appeared on a climatic binge yesterday as June started with a crazy—quit weather pattern.

The south prayed for rain as a prolonged dry spell heightened the danger of millions of dollars damage to crops.

Torrential rains fell in Nebraska. Scores of families fled from their flooded homes as rivers overflowed low-lying areas in the southeastern part of the state.

Weather Below Freezing

Snow covered parts of the Dakotas, Wyoming and Montana. There was an eight-inch blanket of white at Rapid City, S. D. It was below freezing in some parts of the snow belt.

It was top-coat weather over many of the plains states, northern Rockies and northern Midwest states. The cool air pushed into the north central region.

The south and most of the Midwest and East sweltered in mid-summer temperatures. Electrical, wind and rain storms broke the oppressive heat in some Midwest and Eastern cities last night.

At least four persons were killed in the storms. A woman and her daughter were killed by lightning near Birmingham, Ala. A Fort Benning, Ga., soldier on a field maneuver also was killed by lightning.

Dry For 41 Days

In the South, the dry weather belt ranged over Georgia, northern Florida, Louisiana, Mississippi, Tennessee, Alabama and South and North Carolina. The weather

Girl Spy May Get New Trial

Conviction Of Judith Coplon Upheld

By KARL R. BAUMAN

court of appeals has upheld the spying-for-Russia conviction of Judith Coplon, former government girl, but attached conditions that may win her a new trial.

In a unanimous decision here yesterday, the court ruled that the arrest of the tiny brunette was lawful.

Then the court, dividing 2 to 1, said the former justice department worker is entitled to a new trial if she can prove FBI agents listened through a wiretapping device to her phone talks with her attorney.

In holding Miss Coplon's arrest was lawful, the court here found itself in conflict with the court of appeals for the second circuit (New York).

In a decision last December, the New York court said the arrest by FBI agents without a warrant was illegal and that government documents found in her purse should not have been admitted as evidence against her in her New York trial. Miss Coplon and Valentin A. Bubitchev, a Russian engineer, were arrested in New York March 4, 1949.

Secrecy Veils Future Allied War Strategy

Communists Crippled But Not Exhausted

TOKYO—(P)—Lt. Gen. James A. Van Fleet said today the U. S. Eighth army has quit chasing Reds in North Korea but will continue to block Communist aggression.

The United Nations ground commander gave no clue to possible future Allied operations.

He left unanswered the question: Will the U. N. Allies stand where they are now, just a few miles north of the Red Korea border, or will they strike out for specific targets?

Running Out of Steam

Right after he spoke, Eighth army headquarters clamped down the most restrictive news regulations since censorship was imposed last December.

When the lid fell, United Nations forward elements had run up against a bristling Chinese and Korean Communist defense line a short distance inside North Korea. This line had been strongly reinforced overnight.

There were two possible reasons for Van Fleet's announcement:

1. The Red reinforcements.
2. The Allies might be running out of steam after hurling back the biggest force the Reds ever had thrown against them.

Van Fleet told a news conference the Eighth army has ended its "pursuit phase" of operations but "will continue, however, to stop the enemy's unwarranted aggression against South Korea, and will, when necessary and profitable, meet such threats within North Korea."

Over 100,000 Casualties

He said the Reds were "crippled severely" but are not exhausted and have reserves for "still another round."

The Eighth army commander said the U. N. Allies inflicted more than 100,000 casualties, including 10,000 captured, on the Communists.

Aviation Cadet Requirements Set

"Youngsters who some day aspire to be Uncle Sam's glamorous pilots can prepare for that thrilling vocation from a very early age," Col. Lawrence J. Kelly, Commanding Officer of the 9134th Air Force Reserve Group headquarters in Green Bay, said today.

"A series of tests govern the appointment as an aviation cadet today," Col. Kelly added. "According to information received here, these tests will continue to measure up a prospective cadet."

"A youngster may begin to work on the tests almost from the cradle. They are based on numerical ability, mechanical comprehension, the ability to read dials and tables, mathematical reasoning and muscular coordination."

"The tests are not designed to measure intelligence or scholastic achievement but are used to indicate an applicant's aptitude for flying duty, either as a pilot, navigator or bombardier."

Col. Kelly concluded, "This testing series was prepared by leading psychologists from experience in the last war and after evaluation of trials conducted among post-war aviation cadet candidates."

"If you want to be a pilot, begin muscular coordination by yourself. Pay special attention to arm and leg coordination, ear and eye coordination and reaction times to various exercises and emergency recoveries."

MULTI-PETALED TRILLIUM—The wild trillium, usually a three-petaled flower, outdid itself in this "freak" found in Delta county woods. Instead of three rows of petals there are six, and there are a total of 30 petals—27 more than the usual trillium. Bobby Karas, nine-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Karas, who picked the flower on Memorial Day in woods on the Grey Knaus farm at Cornell, holds it for the photographer. The spot where the flower grew was marked to determine next spring whether more of the multi-petaled trilliums will be produced. (Daily Press Photo)

Impressive Service At Rapid River Memorial Day

RAPID RIVER—Memorial Day was observed in Rapid River with appropriate ceremonies enjoyed by a large crowd.

The program opened with a concert by the Rapid River high school band and selections by the combined choirs of St. Charles Catholic, Calvary Lutheran and the Congregational churches. Following the musical program the American Legion, Legion Auxiliary, band, Camp Fire Girls, Bluebirds, Boy Scouts and Cubs formed a line of march for the parade to the Rapid River bridge where a service was held honoring Naval and Marine dead.

The units then went to the cemetery, followed by a line of 75 cars, for the Memorial Day service. Rev. Wilbert Johnson, who was introduced by Thomas Faye, American Legion chaplain, a fitting and inspiring talk, stressing the fact that as long as the people of the nation observe Memorial Day and are on the alert for outside sources tending to tear down morals and standards, they will not forget the members of the armed forces who have made the supreme sacrifice.

The Camp Fire Girls and Bluebirds presented the flower tributes at the Rapid River in honor of Naval and Marine dead and at the cemetery in honor of the unknown soldier.

May Ore Shipments At Peak Month Since '43

Hitting wartime stride, iron ore flowed through the two Chicago & North Western docks at Escanaba in May to set the highest tonnage total for any month since 1943.

A total of 965,341 tons (compared to the peak of nearly 1,000,000 tons for one month in 1943) was loaded out of Escanaba last month, it was reported today.

Lee A. McMillan, C&NW dock agent, said 105 boats were loaded during the month of May, comparing favorably with 107 boats loaded during the peak wartime month in 1943.

Half Million Ahead
There does not appear to be any slackening in sight in the rush for ore. Loadings here are limited only by the capacity of the docks and the available rail equipment of the North Western for hauling from the mines.

Comparative tonnage shipment figures to date from Escanaba are as follows:

	1951	1950
April	625,119	264,336
May	965,341	738,035
Total	1,590,460	1,002,371

The first boat this season cleared from the North Western docks on April 5. Last year there was delay in the start of shipping because of strikes at the mines.

From Three Ranges

Ore trains are coming to Escanaba 24 hours a day, bringing ore from mines in the Menominee, Marquette and Gogebic ranges.

Tonnage received here in May totaled 959,090, from the three ranges as follows: Gogebic 251,906; Marquette 44,642; Menominee 662,541. The tonnage received here in May from the Gogebic range almost equals the total for all of last year from that area.

Indicating the acute demand for ore is the opening of additional mines in some of the ranges. In the Crystal Falls district of the Menominee range the North Range Mining company's new Warner Mine is expected to begin shipments here later this month.

Last year a total of 5,007,221 tons of ore was shipped from Escanaba, biggest year since 1944.

Future In Forestry For Indians Of Hannahville, Tiedke Believes

Forestry production seems to be the "one possibility" that might solve the economic problem of the Hannahville Indian community, according to Kenneth E. Tiedke, department of sociology and anthropology, Michigan State College.

Tiedke's findings have just been released in a special bulletin of Michigan State College, reporting a study made at the request of the Office of Indian Affairs and the Department of Interior.

The Hannahville Indian community, located in Harris township, Menominee county, just south of the Delta county line, numbers 142 persons in 31 families.

A Troubled Trail
The study and report by Tiedke based in part on local information obtained in this area in 1948 and 1949, is described by Dr. Charles P. Loomis, head of the department of sociology and anthropology, as important "since it is proposed by some that the Indian reservations of the nation be liquidated in an effort to make the Indians full-fledged citizens, as opposed to being wards of the government."

Descendants of the Potawatomi tribe originally, the Indians at Hannahville came there over a long and troubled trail.

The Potawatomi first inhabited the southern part of Michigan, but by treaty and by war were driven north and west into Wisconsin. Some were moved to Kansas "at the point of the bayonet."

Others continued ahead of advancing settlers and by 1853 they were at the Menominee river. They were dispersed to the Cedar River, Nahma, Stonington and Garden, and even northward into Canada.

"The main body of the refugees remained around Cedar River until about 1883 when Peter Marksmen, a Methodist missionary and said to be a Chippewa Indian, became interested in their plight," Tiedke reports.

"In that year he found unoccupied land for them around Harris, where they settled. In gratitude for his efforts and his loan of money to get them started, they named their community Hannahville after his wife, and made him agent for the tribe."

Here they remained as squatters until 1913, when the government acquired 3,359 somewhat scattered acres for them in the Harris-Wilson area.

Attempt at Farming
After many years of wandering the acquisition of land did not essentially help their condition, Tiedke reported. "They had only old techniques for survival in surroundings that gradually had rendered these techniques useless."

"The giving of teams and tools with supervision only, rather than practical demonstration, was not an adequate educational means for a change to a totally agricultural economy," he added.

Under the Reorganization Act of 1936 a community council was established and, theoretically, is the local governing body. Main power is the authority to assign land for use to individual Indian families on a lifetime basis. In theory the council may also approve timber permits, loans, and the building of homes.

Forestry Products
"Actually, authority for cutting timber for any purpose must come from the Great Lakes Indian Agency at Ashland, Wis., which is the nearest agency of the Bureau of Indian Affairs," Tiedke pointed out.

Of the Indians relationship to COMMUNITY HOUSE—The Hannahville community house, built in early 1930's, is now seldom used.

SMALL PROFIT—Basket making and other Indian handicraft brings small return.

the whites of the present day, Tiedke's conclusion is that they are "in a minority group status and still basically unprepared to participate in the larger community."

The more than 3,000 acres in the Hannahville Indian community was a cut-over land when the Indians obtained control.

"Some hardwoods have reappeared, but most of the available timber is good only for firewood, fence post, fish box lumber, and, occasionally, railway ties and shims," Tiedke reports.

Of the 3,559 acres comprising reservation lands, 1,920 acres are in one block, 880 acres in another, and the rest is largely scattering.

Income Is Low
Some of the acreage is suitable for agriculture, and the Potawatomi in the old days were noted as being better farmers than other Indian tribes. With the passing years and the forced removal of the Potawatomi from one location to another (generally to poorer soils) the habit of agriculture declined.

The Hannahville Indians became day laborers when they were employed by the whites. Up until a few years ago the roads into the community were not plowed. Plowing began when the Bark River-Harris school district was organized and Indian children were transported to school by bus.

Tiedke in his study found that 12 of the 142 persons at Hannahville were receiving their only income from welfare. The range of income for the 31 families was from $22.90 per month from Old Age Assistance to $182 per month. Average income per family per month was $102.20, including welfare funds. The average earned income was $60.50 per month per family.

Attend Public Schools
"In other words, approximately 60 per cent of the average family income is earned, and 40 per cent comes from supplementary sources," he reported.

In 1948-49 there were 71 Indian boys and girls enrolled in the Bark River-Harris schools, most of them in schools located at Wilson and Perronville.

Tiedke found that up until the sixth grade the white and Indian children played together freely without prejudice. Beginning in the sixth grade "a consciousness of difference" appeared. Older Indian children withdrew from groups at lunch time to eat wholly by themselves.

"In addition, apparently there begins to develop a recognition of differing adult status and widely divergent future opportunities. For example, at least one teacher punishes white children by having them sit next to a particular Indian whose odor is deemed offensive," Tiedke reports. "Inevitably, all parties to such a situation are quite aware of the undertones."

Many Had Tuberculosis
"Though in any particular case it is difficult to determine the source of personal odors, some, at least, come from wet wood, smoke and food. Apparently the whites have forgotten the days when they, too, lived in houses heated only by smoky wood stoves, and subsisted on cheaper and more odoriferous foods. Most of the Indians of Hannahville live in poverty but not in filth."

Tiedke also points out that some of the antipathy expressed by the whites may be the result of fear regarding disease. He adds that the fear is not unfounded, since of the 31 Indian families at Hannahville, 26 have a record history of tuberculosis among their members. Cases of syphilis have been reported for treatment. Some time previous to his study Indian children appeared for the first day at school with scabies.

The superintendent of schools and many of the teachers of the Bark River-Harris system have encouraged the Indians to a greater participation in community affairs, with only moderate success. Teachers find the Indian children intelligent as the whites, but inclined to withdraw. Because of the distance from the school few of the Indian children return to engage in extra-curricular events.

The Drinking Whites
Worst aspect of Indian-white relations is that which takes place on the reservation, Tiedke found. "Essentially it consists of drinking whites looking for a 'good time' with Indian women who are considered 'easy,' he reported.

Tiedke is doubtful these drinking white men come from very far away, certainly not more than 50 or 60 miles. "Since the exact legal status of the reservation is not clear to anyone, the police do not know just what procedure to follow but feel that they do not have the authority to keep citizens from visiting citizens," Tiedke added.

Another aspect of the same problem is "bad publicity" for the Indian—but not for the visiting white man, Tiedke believes. Names of Indians are always published by the newspapers, he reports, while there is "never any corollary attempt to seek and publish the names of whites who are contributing to such violation or violence."

Most of the whites of the vicinity will say privately that "the cause of most of the trouble is the liquor brought in by 'low class whites,'" Tiedke says. Organized social and welfare agencies have made some efforts toward assisting the condition of the Hannahville Community. Tiedke found, "Complexities of administration" are cited by him and he tells of the case of an old Indian woman who, needing new glasses after wearing the same pair for 20 years, could not receive them "because no money could be found for the examination."

Other efforts, particularly at the Menominee county level, brought some encouraging star but, aside from bringing the Indians out for tuberculosis x-rays "other conditions have only slightly improved."

There have been many changes by the government in control of the Indians, leaving both the Indians and whites "confused" as to the legal status of the Indians at Hannahville, Tiedke reported.

Fears Loss of Land
The Indians believe they were "given" lands and materials, whereas it was purchased from their own money held in trust for them by the government. And the whites, including the police, believe nothing can be done in control at Hannahville of "socially undesirable white-Indian contact" because "police function" belongs to the federal government.

Tiedke draws some conclusions and makes some suggestions in considering the future outlook for the Indians at Hannahville, particularly in relation to their economic and social status.

It is his belief the Hannahville Indians are not really prepared to compete in a white economic system. If they were given the land as individual holdings, they would be likely to sell it for the lure of ready cash or likely to lose it to the state for nonpayment of taxes, Tiedke says.

Future in Forestry

The making of baskets, bows and arrows and tourist trinkets would bring only "negligible income," in Tiedke's opinion. Individual Indians should be encouraged to continue handicrafts but it should be thought of as additional income much as "egg money" is to a farmer's wife.

Tiedke believes that a means of employment must be found or created which will allow the raising of the standard of living of the Indian to a point where he can "psychologically feel himself the equal of his white neighbor."

"On the economic level, one possibility seems to exist in establishing reservation lands as family production units by introducing the idea of forest husbandry."

Cooperative assistance of forestry departments of University of Michigan, Michigan State College extension service and agricultural experiment station "should be interested and willing to help," Tiedke reports.

Indians Like Work

"Such husbandry has been practiced in Europe for many years; it is not too early to start here," he says.

"In this once denuded area, trees have now grown back and among them are some hardwoods. Selective cutting would probably do much to improve the stand of timber and make it more readily marketable in future years. Between the possible future and the present, pulpwood, firewood, fence posts and other products could be marketed."

"Employers and buyers agree that the Indian is an expert in the woods and consistently does the best piecework. Since this is the sort of thing they quite generally like, perhaps not too much encouragement would be needed to start them off in the approved direction of taking care of themselves."

Tiedke reports that local white lumbermen men estimate it would require a half section per family to yield an adequate living from forestry.

Need Local Agent

"If this is true, it would be necessary to buy more land in order to furnish the needed employment, but this should not be an insurmountable problem in view of the unsettled claims they still have against the government. In the event that more land is purchased for such a purpose, it would probably be advisable to further scatter the holdings in order to increase the rate and intensity of white contact."

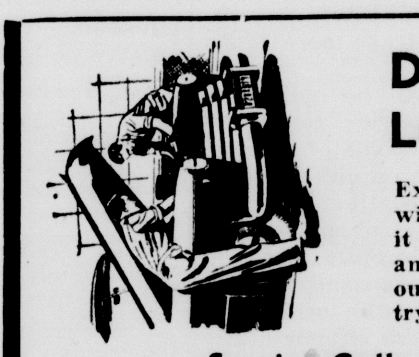

A special worker, a white man well trained and capable, could be assigned to the group to live and work locally in starting such a program of forest husbandry and training the Indians to carry it out.

"In the opinion of the writer," Tiedke reports, "the guidance required in both aspects of the program depends for its success upon truly local application. It would be best for the person charged with the responsibility involved to be a reservation resident and full-time worker. Under no circumstances should he reside very far away."

Continuing services of a social worker, home demonstration agent, public health nurse, agricultural agent, and the encouragement of participation of adults in special education is recommended.

Tiedke describes the suggested program as "special treatment for a special problem" and concludes that the federal government logically should bear a substantial part of the cost.

City Can Not Long Postpone Its Problem Of Electrical Supply

BARRING developments of war or a worsening of world conditions to intensify the threat of war, the city will have its gas conversion program completed next winter and the water development project should be completed in 15 to 18 months. But there still is an even bigger headache confronting city officials. That is the problem of electric supply.

A quick look at the city's electric situation would indicate that the City of Escanaba is in a favorable situation. Profits from the electric utility are high and the city enjoys a low rate contract with its supplier, a contract that has seven more years to run. Electric consumption is accelerating and has shown no inclination to level off.

That's only the surface look at the problem, however. The simple truth is that electric consumption in Escanaba has risen so alarmingly that there is already fear that generating capacity will soon be insufficient to meet both the needs of the city and the needs of the Escanaba Paper company. The Upper Peninsula Power and Light company has already indicated that it would like to be relieved of at least a portion if not all of the heavy city load.

The city can choose to sit back and insist that the terms of the contract be met completely for the duration of the agreement, but to do so would jeopardize an industry that is a large employer of local labor and an important part of the economic strength of the community. And even then the city can not hope to postpone the problem beyond 1958.

The first phase of the problem necessitates installation of a steam turbine and generator in the city steam plant to provide electric generating capacity for the utilization of power now going to waste in the process of converting from high pressure to low pressure steam. This would not only help to meet the city's electric requirements but it will also materially benefit the financial aspect of the steam plant. It will eliminate any remaining doubts that the steam utility will be continued and thereby encourage more steam customers.

Eventually the city will be obliged to provide additional electric generating capacity, perhaps to the point of meeting all or most of its electric requirements by 1958 when the present contract with the U. P. Power and Light company expires. This will necessitate a project that will cost many hundreds of thousands of dollars. It can only mean that the lush profits now realized from the city's electric utility will not be permanently available for general city purposes.

GO TO IT, SYMINGTON!

(Detroit News)

The summary firing of the RFC's Minneapolis manager for "unethical" conduct is evidence that W. Stuart Symington is determined to carry out his mission to clean up the government's much-criticized lending agency.

Symington acted when it was charged the Minneapolis official had made himself a sizeable piece of money, $36,000, by cashing in on inside information given him by a "tipster" working in another government department.

Up to now, investigation of RFC shenanigans has been confined to the Washington area. It becomes clear that Symington, who took charge of the RFC only three weeks ago, is bent on extending his housecleaning to all the agency's offices.

This should find favor with the taxpayers, who have been shocked at disclosures pointing to the loose handling of their money by the government's chief lending agency.

DELIVERY TRUCK PARKING

(Marquette Eagle-Star)

Drivers of delivery trucks take too many liberties in parking, especially when they park their vehicles too close to the intersections. Police should remind them of parking regulations, and if they ignore the warnings, bring them into court.

Some delivery truck drivers park their vehicles so close to the intersection that they even block the cross walk. This not only obscures the view of motorists at the intersection but also makes it difficult to swing around the parked trucks because most of Marquette's streets are relatively narrow.

Some drivers of delivery trucks park close to intersections in spite of the fact there is plenty of room for them to move the vehicle clear of the intersection. This is happening here every day.

After all, you can believe about half of what you hear—if you want to be that foolish.

We understand now the meaning of "time is money." If you haven't the money, you buy on time.

Summer Dawn

When you rise to find the summer dawn is just about to break, and the great outdoors is stirring as it slowly comes awake, then you know that you are privileged to see a wondrous sight, as the brilliant rays of sunrise chase away the gloom of night. And you're sure you'll never witness any other scene so gay, as you watch the bright beginning of a sparkling summer day.

From their chirping in the darkness, birds are quick to change their tune, and their song so full of melody salutes a day in June. Comes the whistle of the redbird from his leafy tree-top den, and at once he gets an answer from a saucy Jenny Wren. Then a robin and a meadowlark must make some music too, and it seems as if their singing is especially for you.

And the air is surely something that has felt God's magic hand, for it carries all the fragrance of the ever-bearing land. There's the sweetness of the clover and the smell of dewy grass, and the scent of lovely roses no perfume can surpass. Why, it's just a bit of heaven that has gladly come your way, as you watch the bright beginning of a sparkling summer day.

MARTIN

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Some bureaucrats can't seem to get over the idea that an official denial of a newspaper story doesn't necessarily make the newspaper story untrue. Congressman Walter Brehm of Ohio and Congressman Parnell Thomas of New Jersey, for instance, both denied the stories of their kickbacks as published in this column. But both got jail sentences in the end.

Here are some other denials, issued more recently, which aren't likely to fool the public:

Denial No. 1—Last week, Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson and Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston issued a joint statement denying this column's account of their well-known feud and the reasons for it—namely, that Wilson had promised Johnston an executive order outlining his powers, then failed to come through with it, later had warned Johnston about his friendship with an ex-Communist.

At 9:30 on the morning the column was published, Robert Gros, the west coast lecturer, was in Wilson's office. The defense mobilizer complained to him about published reports of the feud, but remarked: "I must say that Pearson got his facts straight, however. Of course, I didn't come down here to win a popularity contest," he added.

However, Wilson later called Eric Johnston, demanded that he join him in issuing a categorical denial.

Denial No. 2—Several days ago this column published the text of a letter sent by President Truman to OPS Administrator Mike DiSalle, comparing DiSalle's deflating wit with the use of a "trocar on a clovered bull." Immediately a DiSalle spokesman told inquiring newsmen that the text of the letter was not accurate. An hour later, the DiSalle spokesman telephoned this office to say:

"We had to make that statement to the press about the inaccuracy of the text. Otherwise, Mike would have got in wrong with the president."

Denial No. 3—On March 7, this column reported that the army was still holding back true casualty figures in Korea, had failed to include "noncombat casualties" and cited as an illustration that Gen. Walton Walker "wasn't counted as a casualty because he happened to be killed in a jeep accident. . . . This is also true of frostbite cases."

"Noncombat casualties," the column further stated, "would increase our casualty figures by nearly 50 per cent."

Later that day the army issued a blistering denial, stating that the column was a "deliberate and irresponsible misrepresentation to discredit the army."

The denial branded as "absolutely false" the column statement that Gen. Walton Walker "was officially counted as a casualty because he happened to be killed in a jeep accident."

Last week, however, Senator Bridges of New Hampshire, revealed that Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff had "testified that the total battle and nonbattle casualties in the Korean war is substantially more than double the announced total of battle casualties."

General Bradley's testimony, later made public, also showed that Senator Hickenlooper of Iowa had asked him: "Was General Walker considered a battle casualty?" "No sir," Bradley replied, "General Walker would be carried as a nonbattle casualty."

GREEK PREMIER DENIAL

Denial No. 4—On May 14 this column reported that Premier Sophocles E. Venizelos of Greece had applied to the Maritime commission for the purchase of a surplus Liberty ship. In the column, I went out of the way to point out that the purchase was made before Venizelos became premier.

However, Premier Venizelos issued a savage denial, compared me to "Vishinsky" and the Polish Jew delegate Kantzowsky and stated "I have no interest whatever in the ships assigned to Greece by the American government."

Nevertheless, the official files of the Maritime commission contain the official application of "George N. Moatsos and Sophocles E. Venizelos" for a Liberty ship. The application is dated Sept. 9, 1946, and the application goes on to state that "Mr. Venizelos, since 1936, being owners and managing different ocean going vessels as the SS Nausicia under Greek flag and the SS Myriam and Panam under Panamanian flag. . . ."

It so happens that when I was in Greece last winter I publicly reported that Premier Venizelos' government was doing an excellent job.

And unlike Vishinsky, I gave Greece and the Truman aid doctrine credit for having stopped communism in Southeast Europe.

1951 Michigan Legislature Passes 270 Bills; Overrides Gas Tax Veto

LANSING—New laws on issues that run the gamut of Michigan's social, political and economic life were written at the 1951 regular session of the legislature.

Restoration of the one-man grand jury law, higher unemployment compensation benefits and retirement pensions for judges were among major measures enacted.

Bills or constitutional proposals killed this session included a fair employment practice commission, control of sex deviates, a seal of quality for farm products, capital punishment for murderers, discretionary power over hunting, repeal of parimutuel betting and an administrator of courts.

5-Month Session

More than 270 enrolled acts, most of them of limited importance, were the record of the five-month session.

The Republican-controlled legislature spent most of the session feuding with Democratic Gov. G. Mennen Williams. "Good roads" revenue, general fund taxes and the taxes and the state budget were the big bones of contention.

Shadowing the activities of the legislature was pressure from lobbyists, paid by public or private interests.

"The feud" found the Republican and Democratic parties jockeying for political prestige in 1952, when a president, a governor and the lesser officials will be chosen in a general election.

The legislature met 93 days in the session but most of its work was done in the last month.

One Veto Recorded

The only veto so far recorded was on the "good roads" bill to increase the gasoline tax 1½ cents a gallon to a 4½-cent total. The veto was finally overridden, when four Detroit Democrats deserted Williams and voted with 66 House Republicans.

It was the first Williams veto overridden in 20 months. He felt the rebuke keenly for a time. Now some Democrats are "happy." Williams preserved his stand for political purposes, and overburdened taxpayers can blame the Republicans.

More bills may be voted in the next month. The legislature is due back June 28 and 29 before final adjournment.

Bills passed and sent to the governor were:

Business and Industry

Taxation relief for low-grade copper and iron mines.

"Kickbacks" from finance companies to automobile dealers increased.

Radio stations given protection against "ad lib" defamation.

Garage keepers' lien raised to $400.

(See taxation.)

County road commission, with state permission, can borrow in anticipation of state aid.

One-fourth of state oil and severance tax, about $225,000 a year, given to county road commissions.

Good Evening . . .

By CLINT DUNATHAN

JUNE BUGS—In the office of J. L. "Joe" Heirman at the court house the other day we talked about white grubs and the damage they do to lawns. The grubs have the discouraging habit of eating the grass roots, causing lawns to develop dead brown patches after greening up in the spring.

The only way the lawn owner would know the cause of the trouble would be to dig up his lawn and uncover the pale and unlovely grubs, some of them almost as large as your little finger.

It is these grubs that develop into the large hard-shelled June bugs or June beetles that come knocking at your lighted windows in the evening. They have fairly strong wings that will carry them considerable distances and they do most of their flying after sundown.

Attracted by light, they hammer themselves against windowpanes. In the evening they fly in dizzying circles about street lamps on the corners.

JUST ANOTHER PEST—Joe Heirman has more than an academic interest in white grubs. As Delta county agricultural agent it is necessary that he know about all kinds of pests that afflict the farmer—and even the man who is trying to grow a lawn.

The agricultural agent's office is a clearing house of information on everything that has to do with growing things. Besides white grubs, for example, your lawn will get rough treatment from wire worms. Chemical treatment will keep them in control.

Joe also tells me the white grubs will hide beneath the ground and nip off the roots of the strawberry and raspberry plants in your garden. That may explain why our raspberry patch looks patchy.

NATURAL ENEMIES—Knowing the troubles Delta county farmers have in controlling quack grass, we asked Joe whether the white grubs would not eat the quack grass roots and thus destroy it.

The county agent explained that quack grass has a character all its own. Besides having a root system for each plant it also has a rhizome (or extending and connecting root) that sends up new plants. Thus the white grub would be a busy little fellow if he could do much damage in a quack grass field.

Leaving the quack grass problem, we will return to the unlovely white grub and tell you that he has a few natural enemies.

One of them is the sea gull, says County Agent Heirman. During the spring plowing season the sea gulls will flock to the fields where the sod has been turned, there to feast on the exposed grubs.

Flocks of several hundred white gulls will be observed in the fields in springtime, sometimes closely following the chugging tractor hauling the plow. Sometimes the flocks are found quite far inland. More often they are seen only in farmland fields within a few miles of the bay shores.

TRIAL AND ERROR—A few years ago, when we were raising a vegetable garden to help win the war and feed the starving Russians, we had what we thought were pests on the carrots.

With more determination than knowledge we exterminated the orange-colored bugs and told Pip Wenner, then county agent, about it.

He looked at us compassionately and reported that we had done away with baby lady bugs. And the lady bugs, he said, are the gardeners best friend, feeding on other little bugs that damage plants. The lady bugs themselves do no harm to the vegetables.

EVEN THE TREES—No plant is free of pests, it seems. The other day we noted the ends of the new shoots on the white birch tree in the back yard were badly infested with aphids—little green bugs that suck the juices from the tree and stunt its growth.

Lacking a chemical spray, we turned the hose on full force and washed the bugs away, hoping they would not find their way back again.

Some four or five years ago aphids were so thick on some of the city trees along the curbs that parked cars were covered with spots of their sticky secretion. Robert Clayton, city forester, said the aphids will not kill a tree but

Peace On 39th Parallel New Objective In Korea

By MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON—Already at even the suggestion that negotiation may bring a truce in the Korean war shrill cries of "appeasement" are being sounded. They come from the outriders of the Republican group determined to wage all-out war on Communist China.

From part of the testimony in the hearings into General MacArthur's dismissal this advance guard has drawn certain conclusions. They are assuming that a truce will be negotiated restoring the 38th parallel as the boundary between North and South Korea. This was the boundary that existed when the North Koreans first attacked, and it has been crossed and recrossed so many times that it is now familiar to all who scan the headlines.

In reply to questions General Omar Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, said that it was conceivable that negotiations would center on the 38th parallel. To have said officially that this was the fixed intention of American policy-makers would have given the Kremlin an extra prize in addition to all the other vital information that has been handed out to the world during the hearings.

There are, however, pretty clear indications that the 38th parallel is not now the goal of a truce and has not been for some time. As has been said again and again, it is meaningless both politically and strategically. As a defense line between the two Koreas that arbitrary mark on the map had few advantages.

39th More Strategic

The goal of the military planners now is to stabilize a line at the 39th parallel rather than the 38th. The 39th is approximately at the narrow waist of Korea and offers many strategic advantages. In any cease-fire or truce negotiation, the objective also will be to make the 39th the dividing line between the two Koreas.

The pursuit of the Communists will not be pushed, except under circumstances not now foreseeable, to the far north of Korea and the Yalu river. As the testimony of the joint chiefs has shown, it was this venture by General MacArthur that produced a near disaster last November and December.

With a demarcation line based on or near the 39th parallel of the Pongnyang would be included in what would become a reconstituted South Korean republic. It also would include greater port facilities than were available under the former boundary.

Plans for the defense of a new South Korean republic are well advanced. They call for the training and equipping of approximately 20 South Korean divisions. Ten of these divisions would be completely Korean, including all officers.

As to the other 10 divisions, the South Korean government of Syngman Rhee is reported to have suggested that they be staffed with American officers. Serious consideration is being given to the request, with a proposal under study whereby a sufficient number of officers could be obtained in spite of the present pressure for trained and able men in every grade.

Commissions Offered

To supply the need in Korea, experienced noncommissioned officers in American units at home and overseas would be offered a chance to get commissions on condition that they agree to serve with the Korean divisions. The belief is that many would welcome such an opportunity.

All such planning is, of course, conditional on the course of the bloody fighting now going on. Significantly the U. N. armies had barely crossed the 38th parallel when the Communist forces halted their retreat—it had been described in terms of a rout—and stood off the U. N. advance. This may well underscore the importance the Chinese put on this dividing line.

If a cease-fire negotiation is possible at all, it may be only on the basis of the former boundary. That is a very big if. Whatever the desires of Moscow, and Jacob Malik has now specifically denied that he or any other Russian representative at the United Nations made any peace overtures, the Communist regime in Peiping very likely has its own concept of how and when the Korean war shall be brought to an end. And that concept will be strongly influenced by an evident American determination to continue warfare of one kind or another against the Chinese mainland regardless of the outcome in Korea.

The joint chiefs of staff know very well the cost of the Korean war. It has made large demands for material which might otherwise have gone into building strength in areas of greater strategic importance. Japan and Western Europe are two examples that come to mind at once. That is one reason the JCS favor negotiating a peace on the 39th parallel, if possible, but if not there then on the 38th. In spite of cries of appeasement, I believe most Americans would accept such a settlement.

The St. Paul
A Pleasing Variation
In Ranch-Type Design

Rooms Six
Bedrooms Two
Closets Six
Cubage 20,800 ft.
Dimensions 47'x26'

Measuring 47'x26' the "St. Paul" has a cubage of 20,800 feet. At least a 60 foot lot would be required, and, of course, an even larger one would set the house off to better advantage.

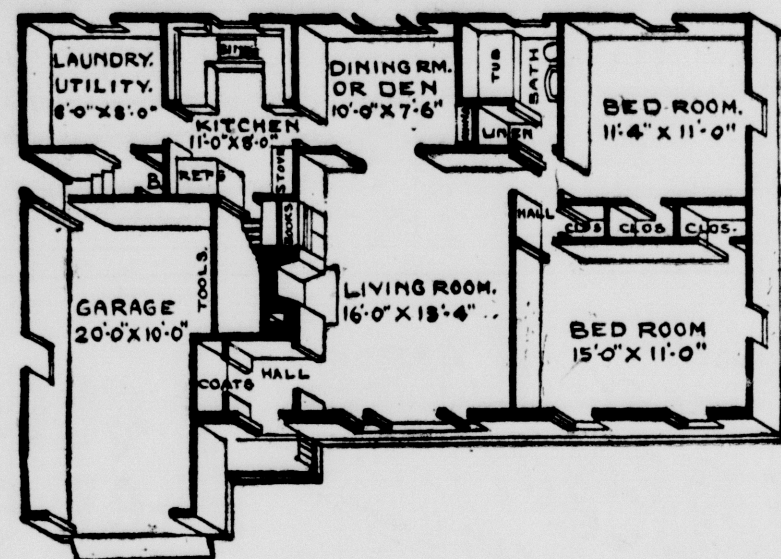

While a combination brick and clapboard exterior is used for the house in the illustration, you can use just about any type of exterior finish you might prefer. You'll find that brightly colored awnings, white trim and multi-colored roofing will add just the right decorative touch to the house.

The plain front entrance is reached by two steps; the small porch has iron grille work on either side. Four small, square glass panels decorate the top of the front door itself.

There is a small entry hall in the "St. Paul", but in a moderate-sized home such as this it would not be good home planning to utilize too much space for an entry way. However, the hall does contain a spacious coat closet that will come in handy both for hanging up visitors' wraps and also for storing your family's stormy weather apparel.

Living Room
To the right off the hall is the 16'x13'4" living room which is well lighted by a large casement window flanked by two smaller windows in the front wall. One of the highlights of the room is the large fireplace in the left wall. If you wish you could easily install a bookcase just to the right of the fireplace.

The dining room or den opens off the living room. Measuring 10'x7'6", this room also is well lighted by a large picture window in the back wall. This window likewise is flanked by narrow casement windows. The large china closet in the right front corner of the room will come in very handy as a storage spot for your best chinaware, etc. If you should decide to use the room as a den this space could easily be utilized for any other storage purpose desired.

To the left off the dining room is the all modern kitchen which measures 11'x8', with the cabinets and counters arranged in a U-shape the sink is conveniently placed under the large window in the back wall. This is the most convenient and popular arrangement for not only does it insure plenty of light for the housewife while she is doing her dishes, but it also enables her to enjoy a view of her back yard; to keep an eye on the youngsters.

Laundry
Beside the kitchen and in back of the garage is the laundry. Measuring 8' square this room is

The garage itself measures 20 x 10 feet. There is a window in the left wall and plenty of room for storage in the convenient tool storage area in the right wall.

At the right end of the house is the sleeping section of the where all the bedrooms will be completely free from noises in the rest of the house.

Separating the dining room and den is the all modern bathroom. The back bedroom measures 11'x4'x11' and has cross ventilation. The large closet will provide plenty of storage space.

The largest of the two bedrooms, the front bedroom, is 15'x11' in dimension and would probably be first choice as master bedroom. It also boasts cross ventilation and a large closet.

The third closet in this central storage area opens on the central hallway.

WEDDING IN SEPTEMBER—Mr. and Mrs. I. L. Carlson of 529 South 16th street, announce the engagement of their daughter, Barbara Joanne, to James Douglas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Douglas of Bark River. A September wedding is planned. (Millie Photo)

Rosemary Derocher Is The Bride Of Joseph Bartoszek

White lilacs and apple blossoms were arranged with the altar candles at St. George's church in Bark River this morning to form the setting for the wedding of Rosemary Ann Derocher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Derocher, of Bark River, and Joseph T. Bartoszek of Perronville. The bridegroom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bartoszek.

Father Vladimir, O. F. M., who was celebrant of the 9:30 nuptial high mass, solemnized the double ring service. The Mass of St. Angela was sung by St. George's choir. Earl Owen who was soloist sang "Ave Maria" at the offertory and "On This Day Oh Beautiful Mother" at the close of the service.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white nylon marquisette over satin, styled with a snug bodice, with button back closing, short puffed sleeves and a hoop skirt. Rhinestone studded lace marked the sleeve bands and bodice and was repeated in a front panel on the skirt and on the train. Her net gloves with rhinestone wristlets were elbow length. A fingertip veil of illusion caught to a cap of French seeded pearls completed her ensemble and she carried a cascade bouquet of white roses, snapdragons and lilies of the valley.

Miss Mae Derocher, maid of honor for her sister, and Mrs. Louis Derocher and Mrs. John Derocher, the bridesmaids, wore identical gowns of pastel pink, blue and yellow marquisette over taffeta, fashioned with fitted bodices, full skirts with satin cummerbunds and matching capes tied with satin bows with a small inverted belt in back. Their braided headpieces were of matching shades. The maid of honor carried a cascade of white roses and white snapdragons and the bridesmaids carried pink and white snapdragons.

John Bartoszek, brother of the bridegroom, was best man and ushers were Louis and Francis Derocher, brothers of the bride, and Joseph Kolodz of Chicago, a brother-in-law of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Derocher attended her daughter's wedding in a navy suit with which she wore navy and white accessories and a corsage of pink carnations and white roses. Mrs. Bartoszek wore a blue ensemble and yellow snapdragons and white carnations formed her corsage.

Dinner and Reception

The wedding dinner for 50 guests was served at Tom Swift's and a reception is being held from 3 to 6 at the Francis Derocher home for 250 guests. Appointments include the traditional three tiered wedding cake with a miniature bride and bridegroom, and a centerpiece of pink and white snapdragons with cathedral tapers at either side. Pouring at the reception are Miss Esther Klein and Miss Mary Jeanne Pelletier, close friends of the bride, and her cousins, Mrs. Paul Fives and Mrs. Walter Veraghen.

The newlyweds will go to Wisconsin for their honeymoon. For traveling the bride will wear a navy dress with a flamingo duster, navy and white accessories and a corsage of white roses and snapdragons.

The bride, an Escanaba high school graduate, has been employed by the Bark River Culvert and Equipment Co. Her husband, who has been associated with his brother at Perronville, is a graduate of St. Norbert's DePere, Wis. He will report for active duty as a bombardier at Mather Field, Sacramento, Calif., July 15.

LUDINGTON BUY-LINES

by Sue Donimus

NO wonder he's unpopular—the mosquito bites the hand that feeds it! That's why the new Kaiser Aluminum Shade Screening is so popular — it keeps the mosquitoes under control and also gives these added advantages to your home: special construction makes your home 10 to 15% cooler; it insures privacy (you can see out the screen much easier than anyone outside can look in); it prevents fading of draperies and furniture. Better ask to see some samples at Erickson Millwork. If you need new screens, put the bite on Pa for Shade Screening!

THE attractive play suit at Ward's has no hooks, but plenty of eyes on it! Brevity is the soul of it! Made of sturdy Indian head, the shorts are fully lined with cotton jersey. A lined bra that "stays" up. In chartruese, aqua, shrimp and navy for just $3.98. Yummy corduroy shorts in red and pastels with a zip back—only $2.98. Other cotton shorts from 98c. And Ward's bathing suits are worth wading for; satin nylon and acetate—one piece with built up inner bra—$6.98!

THE man who watches the clock generally remains one of the hands! But give that graduate a watch, and watch him make time! The finest selection of watches are found at Bloomstrom and Petersen. Select from Hamiltons, Gruens, Elgins, Bulovas and others. The girl graduate will thrill to the tiny feminine styles in watches, and also to the fashion sets of matching earrings, necklaces, bracelets and pins. Smart costume jewelry at Bloomstrom and Petersen's starts as low as $1.50. A visit to this well stocked store is an easy way to pin something on that girl!

IT used to be the father who gave the bride away, but these days it's the gossip columns. The thing to give the bride "away or near" is some of the famous Candledwick crystal from the Photo Art Shop. There are pieces to fit any purse; the smart salt and pepper shakers with silver tops at just $1.25; clever double candle holders at $4.50 a pair; and unusual relish dishes and bowls. Three sizes of plates, and cups and saucers are also available. What can hold a candle to Candledwick? Light of the bride's life!

WITH rising prices, the only thing that keeps coming down these days is the rain, and even that soaks you! But one bargain I've found in Escanaba that saves both time and money is the deal at the Sun-Brite Laundromat. The only thing they soak is the clothes! You bring in your laundry—fill as many tubs as you need (and remember they hold a great deal!)—and in 39 minutes the whole washing is done and ready to hang. (You can even have it dried for a little extra charge.) Only 35c a load, and you get 24 gal. of 140° water and 4 oz. of detergent! Usually takes two to make a bargain, but the Sun-Brite Laundromat has done it all alone!

I LIKE the crack of the little gal who said she was always putting her foot in it—she owed so much to the shoe salesman she couldn't call her sole her own! No such problems when you are outfitted with Summerrites from the Peterson Shoe Store. Fashioned from the finest fabrics, these Ball-Band casuals are low in price and high in style—they start at $3.98! In toast, white, green, brown and black. Low wedges that will wash and wear—from Peterson's!

MY husband says they've misspelled those wedding invitations that keep coming — they make it "presence" instead of "presents"! But of course we women like nothing better than shopping for wedding gifts—especially when there's Eden's Gift Shop in town! Today I suggest you see some of their tumbler sets. Especially fine are the dark green crackled glass tumblers that are imported from Czechoslovakia—only $3.00 for a set of 8. Heavy, durable glass that doesn't break easily. Heavy based tumblers with a sailing design in frosted or plain crystal are also treasures—pieces of 8 from Eden's!

SOME "open minds" should be closed for repairs! Do you have an open mind about repairs? Instead of doing a botchy job at home, I refer you to Ted's Fix-It Shop—it's open for repairs at all the time. You won't mind the price, and you'll LOVE the work. Don't put it off now — get that stuff done there! He's good!

IT'S not so hard to handle husbands—if at first you don't succeed cry, cry again! I really recommend another way as being better though—just give him a Father's Day gift from the Office Service Co. Excellent billboards made by true leather craftsmen; fountain pens and pencils from the nations outstanding pen makers—that's what you'll find at OSCO. And when you top the gift off with one of these clever Norcross greeting cards, you won't have to whine him around your little finger—you've got him, honey!

MANISTIQUE NEWS

Banks Of West Branch Will Resemble Korea Several Hours Tonight

For a few hours tonight the banks of the West branch of the Manistique river, deep in the wilderness of Schoolcraft county, will resemble a bit of central Korea.

Battle-gear soldiers will crouch in foxholes and behind wooded knolls and ridges, rifles ready, as darkness falls. Machine guns, strategically placed to repel attack, will sweep the surrounding woods and glades.

And out of the shadows will come an attack, not a sweeping charge, but an enemy effort to infiltrate American positions. The attacking force will simulate a crossing of the West Branch and will inch its way into the defending lines, prepared to spread confusion and destruction, much as the North Koreans creep into UN positions in war-torn Korea.

Leave at 6 p. m. Today

This drama of mock war is one of three military problems on the program of the Manistique National Guard company this summer. It is announced by Lt. Lauritz Hough, acting company commander.

Combat engineers of the local unit are to leave on a motor march at 6 p. m. today for the site of old Camp Manistique, near the Stuts river about 15 miles north of Manistique. The camp grounds, site of a CCC camp in the thirties, will be the assembling point for the company.

About an hour and a half later the Guardsmen will travel deeper into the wilderness, proceeding across the Stuts to the West Branch of the Manistique river near the Merwin and Denny hunting camps. To hunters and others familiar with this wilderness area, this part of the river is near an old cable-car river crossing structure.

Here defensive positions along the river will be taken, including preparation of foxholes and placing of machine guns. Later an aggressive force of Guardsmen commanded by Lt. William Bauman will simulate a crossing of the river and make an infiltration attempt on the prepared defenses. Lt. Hough will have command of the defending forces.

Mosquitoes Ready, Too

The military tactics will continue until about midnight when the Guardsmen will pitch their pup tents and bed down for the night.

Sgt. Charles McQuay, local recruiting officer, will serve as umpire during the night tactics. The night bivouac will be broken at early dawn Sunday and the company will report back to Manistique at 6 a. m. Unscheduled on the night's program will be a real, and blood-thirsty, attack by thousands of mosquitoes. According to woodsmen and fishermen who frequent this rolling wilderness along the West Branch, the mosquitoes there are meaner and bigger than in any other part of Michigan.

This will be the first night bivouac and war problem attempted by members of the local Guard company. The other two scheduled events will take place on the rifle range at Manistique Heights, the first on June 16 and 17 and the second on June 23 and 24.

Jean Hambeau Will Graduate On June 7

Miss Jean Hambeau, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Hambeau, of Manistique, will graduate from the College of St. Scholastica in Duluth on June 7 with a bachelor's degree in elementary education. Her parents will attend the graduation program.

Her sister, Miss Helen Hambeau, who also attends St. Scholastica, will be her junior partner in class day and commencement exercises.

Miss Hambeau has been president of the Future Teachers of America and secretary of the Playmaker's Guild at the college. She also has been active in the Women's Athletic association and has directed or co-directed the following: George Washington, Abe Lincoln, and the senior class convocation.

She was chosen one of the nine Ideals of the college, that of "Poise", and for this honor she will have a full page picture in the college yearbook, "The Towers".

Joyce Johnson Becomes Bride Of Richard Norden

White lilacs and lighted tapers in candelabra formed the altar decorations of the First Lutheran church for the marriage on Wednesday of Miss Joyce Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl W. Johnson, 521 North 10th street, and Richard C. Norden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Norden, Rock. The 8 p. m. ceremony was read by Rev. Clifford Peterson.

While the guests were assembling Mrs. Howard Sunblad, church organist played "At Dawn-ning", "Agnus Dei", "Panis Angelicus" and "Love Dreams". Paul Cowen, soloist, sang "I Love Thee", "Because" and as the bride couple knelt for the final blessing, "O Perfect Love".

The bride was escorted up the white carpeted aisle on the arm of her father who gave her in marriage. Her gown of white organ-dyed frosted with eyellet was fashioned with a mandarin neckline, cap sleeves and tight fitted bodice buttoned to the waistline and full hoop skirt. A cloche type bonnet held her fingertip veil of illusion in place. She wore long white organ-dyed gloves edged with eyellet and carried an adornment bouquet of lilies of the valley.

Attending the bride was her sister, Mrs. Melvin Strom, who was matron of honor, and Mrs. Walter Johnson and Miss Lois Norden, the groom's sister, as bridesmaids. They wore mist blue gowns styled like that of the bride with matching taffeta bouquets and carried adornment bouquets of white carnations with like flowers in their hair.

Ronald Norden served his brother as best man. The groomsmen were, Carl L. and James W. Johnson, brothers of the bride. Ushers were Lee Norden, brother of the bridegroom and Melvin Strom, brother-in-law of the bride.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Johnson chose a navy blue voile white coin dot printed dress had to do was go out and callous up his hands with work. There never was, and never will be, a committee which can accomplish anything for an individual that cannot be done better by the individual if he is awful serious about what he wants to do.

Joining anything is stupid in the first place. Joining things you don't know about is stupider. And joining things you gotta lie out of later is the stupidest thing of all, as I suspect senior Ferrer is realizing momentarily.

Like I said, I have no real deep feeling for either Schulberg or Ferrer. I can understand a little of what pushed Budd into the machine, because it was all around me at the time. But some of us didn't run off to the arms of papa Marx, even under heavy economic pressure. For Ferrer's plight, nothing. Any man who joins 18 anything's has got an angle.

He succeeds Leonard J. Harbick, manager of Lauermans store here, who has been president for the past two years.

Other officers elected were Frank Richards, of Thompson, vice president, and Alex Creighton, treasurer. Joseph Van Arnam is the executive secretary.

Serving on the chamber's executive board with the three officers are the following directors, also elected Thursday night: Otmer J. Schuster, retail division; Arthur Thorp, industrial division; and J. Mauritz Carlson, development division.

Plans also were announced for a membership drive dinner for Wednesday, June 13, at which arrangements for the yearly membership campaign will be made. Each member of the executive committee will give a report at the session on the chamber's activities during the past year. The program also will include two speakers, it is announced.

The first meeting of the new executive board will be held at 5 p. m. Monday, June 4, at the chamber office.

Sorry For Schulberg, But Not For Ferrer

By ROBERT C. RUARK
NEW YORK—It just happens I know both writer Budd Schulberg and actor Joe Ferrer, who have been on the fire recently over this Communist front-affiliation business, and personally I like Schulberg fine. I like him a lot better than Ferrer, because Budd pleads honest juvenile alliance with the Communists while Ferrer just sits there and looks innocent while he says: "Who, me?"

We got an awful lot of who-me Communists around these days. These are the boys with the sheepish expressions, who have veiled along the line for years until the man finally comes up and lowers the boom. Then the culprit hollers that he didn't know it was loaded, flicks his eyelashes at you demurely, and hints that he was bad.

Schulberg says simply he was young and reasonably foolish, that he fell into the party because of the come-all-ye line they were hustling back in the post-depression days, and that he fell out when they laid the iron pencil on his literary efforts. This is somewhat understandable, if not forgivable. It was fashionable for the young to play pinkie at that time—and pinkie was being played pretty good in Washington to set an example for the immature.

No Doubt About It
Then Schulberg quit. As a lot of others quit. And Budd went back to being a practicing capitalist, which he is today.

Ferrer, a fine actor, gives you the who-me treatment. He didn't know he was espousing Communism when he sponsored Ben Davis for re-election, as a member of the citizens' non-partisan committee. He didn't? Ben Davis was a proud, loud member of the Communist party. How dumb is a man who works for a political deal where the object of his affection carries a card a mile high? Ferrer's come-with-me-to-Marx operations fill a book in the subversive listings, some 18 in all, and most of the post-World War II. Nobody can be that dumb, as Ferrer claims he was, that many times. Not even in the acting or writing business. You got to know what you're doing if you're doing it 18 times.

They say that actors and writers are too damn' dopey to be let loose in the streets, and this could possibly be correct, except most of the ones I have known are half-fox and half-weasel when it comes to billing or a buck. If they hooked on to a bad die they probably figured there was a point for them somehow, for pure and selfish gain. Some worked for the artist-and-writers projects that the old WPA sponsored, and got infected in the process. But it was a selfishly inspired infection.

Joining Is Stupid
But do not tell me that Ferrer is young enough to be as innocent of compulsive involvement as was the young Schulberg. Or that, as a man who acts so fine and direct, so well, that he didn't know what he was doing when he hooked up with Davis and went for the Wallace foolishness and all the semi-obscure others, I am a reasonably obtuse boy and even I could see the gimmick at a long, long rifle shot.

This is not, nor ever will be, a sympathetic piece, because even as a youngster in a Communist-ridden college, could I deny the necessity of battenning on to an ideology when all a young guy

With Roy Crandall

Ed Stevens of Negaunee writes that big plans are in the offing for the annual All-Star football game in August. Seniors from Escanaba who will be eligible for competition in the game are Dick Shomin, end; Bob St. Martin, tackle; Jim Nyquist, tackle, and Dick Johnson, center. St. Joe seniors available are Don Paulin, back; Jack Courneene, end; Keith Auger, end, and Wayne Papineau, center. There may be others from both schools, but these come to mind as outstanding candidates for berths.

Crandall

That old baseball-softball rivalry reared its perennial head this week. Mickey Kuchenberg, shortstop, left the Escanaba Bear ranks to play softball. Kuchenberg went hitless Memorial Day against Powers but in four previous games had collected six hits and scored four runs.

He will be replaced Sunday at Perronville by Dean Bailey, Houghton youngster who served with the Bears last season. Bailey is a ball of fire in the infield and covers a lot of acreage. Incidentally, Perronville on paper is the best offensive team in the circuit. Although blanked by Bark River last Sunday, Perronville has scored 28 runs, 13 against Stephenson and 15 against Daggett.

Some of the fans were holding a post mortem on Wednesday's Bear game and speculating on some of Manager Phil Brazeau's strategy. We thought we'd talk to Phil and get his versions. With men on second and third, one out, two runs behind, early in the game, the count 3-0 on the batter, Charlie Camps. Phil shot Camps the signal to hit.

"Camps is a real good drive hitter," said the Bear manager, "and is capable of that long 'jackpot' ball at any time. So rather than play for the walk which may have set up an inning-ending double play at any base, Charlie was told to go after the next pitch if it was a 'cripple' down the middle. I believe that the percentage was all with us in this case, because even a fairly long fly ball would score at least one run, and any kind of a hit would score two."

"About a runner for Jack Beck in the ninth, we had none. Due to the injuries to both Doug Peterson and Jim Nyquist our bench was swept clean of anyone who could run well enough to replace Beck. And the attempted sacrifice to advance Beck to second in that same inning. I was looking for the one run to tie the game, after that we could play to win. Had the sacrifice worked we would have had a left-handed pinch hitter batting for right hander Mickey Kuchenberg."

"All in all, nothing seemed to work and we got licked, but I believe that defeat will do us a world of good. We'll be a lot tougher from now on," Manager Brazeau asserted.

Tiger-Yank Tilt Halted By Rain

DETROIT—(AP)—You can add rain now to the respective jinxes of the Detroit Tigers and the New York Yankees.

And, as far as the rain jinx is concerned, it would appear the two teams are about even.

Last night the Yankees were leading the Tigers, 4 to 1, after four and a half innings of play.

Then the clouds came, the wind blew, and the rain fell. After a wait of one hour and 23 minutes, the game was called, to the disappointment of a crowd of 48,276 fans—largest of the season.

The postponement makes things even for the two teams.

In a game May 23 in New York the Tigers were leading the Bronx Bombers, 7 to 3, after 3 1/3 innings of play. Then the rains came—and postponement.

Voice Of Tigers Returns To Air

DETROIT—(AP)—The "voice of the Tigers" goes back on the air today.

Sportscaster and former Detroit Tiger Harry Heilmann, on the ailing list since early March, is going to resume his play-by-play accounts of Tiger games.

For a while it will be on a part-time, two or three inning basis. The former American league batting star still is weak from his long siege with pneumonia. He caught it at the Tiger training camp.

Harry took in last night's Tiger-Yankee game from a box seat near the Bengal dugout. The crowd gave him an ovation when he was introduced over the public address system.

The official name of Yugoslavia is Federal People's Republic of Yugoslavia.

Phil Rizzuto's single. A long fly by DiMaggio, followed Gene Woodling's double, sent the scout home.

In the fourth, Johnny Mize lifted a low one against the front of the third deck press box in right field for his first homer of 1951.

The last Yankee run came in the fifth as the wind began whipping up dust clouds on the field. Rizzuto doubled and scored on pinch-hitter Hank Bauer's single.

But none of it counts.

Now Is The Time For Selling Hot Brownie Hurler Garver

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Now is the time to hang a "for sale" sign on the St. Louis Browns' Ned Garver.

The DeWitt boys could start a baseball price war that would make Macy's look like Sportsman's Park on a dull Monday afternoon.

Ned Garver

Is Garver for sale? Does Macy tell Gimbel?

Only 12 shopping days remain for Boston, New York, Cleveland and Detroit before the June 15 trade deadline arrives. DeWitt says the word, the sky's the limit.

First Shutout

The new surge of enthusiasm for Garver follows his 4-0 shutout of the Red Sox last night, ending Boston's 10-game win streak. It doesn't take any deep thinking to see Garver's value. The Browns, a few percentage points removed from the cellar, have won only 12 games. Garver has won seven.

Just to make it stick, Garver drove home two runs with a fourth-inning single to embarrass Mickey McDermott. It was the first time anybody blanked Boston since Vic Raschi did it opening day.

The Chicago White Sox were rained out of their try for a 15th straight against Philadelphia to the dismay of some 30,000 at Comiskey Park. They'll try again against the A's today with Joe Dobson scheduled to carry the heavy burden.

Cleveland, awakened after a sorry eastern trip, reeled off its fifth straight win behind Early Wynn who tamed Washington, 2-1, with three hits.

Eighth For Maglie

Sal Maglie moved out front as the National league's most winning pitcher as he coasted to his eighth straight, an 8-2 New York victory over Pittsburgh. While Maglie allowed only five hits, the Giants ripped into Pirate throwers for 13 including homers by Bobby Thomson and Whitey Lockman. It was Maglie's ninth win over the Pirates in 10 starts in his career. He has beaten them eight in a row.

Brooklyn had pitching trouble, losing to Cincinnati, 6-5, as Don Newcombe failed in relief. Joe Adcock's two-run single in the ninth climaxed a three-run rally for the decision. Adcock was rought all night, hitting a homer in the second.

Softball Games Sunday Evening

Paper Mill To Play Top Gladstone Club

The Paper Mill will clash with the Kipling softball team Sunday night at 8:30 in the feature game of a benefit doubleheader at Memorial Field. Ev's Bar of Hyde tangles with the local No Names in the preliminary at 7:15.

The Kipling nine is better known as Larry's, having played for several seasons under that banner. They were runnersup in the district Class B tournament here last year, losing out to the Hughes Motors in the finals. They won their first three games in the U. P. finals at Ironwood before losing out to Hughes again, this time in the semi-finals. Last season they won the Gladstone city championship and they are currently in first place in the Gladstone softball league, being undefeated to date.

District Champs

The Paper Mill, under the guidance of Manager Bill Pfister, won the district Class A championship last season and went to the finals of the regional tourney at Ironwood before losing to the champion Holmgren Motors of Ishpeming. They are in fourth place in the American league with a record of two victories and two defeats.

Kipling is expected to start Dick Maki on the mound with Aino Maki or Bill Rasmussen catching. Walter Lund will be at first base. George Mathison at second, Shorty Grenier at short, and John Stenac at third base. Walter Lake, John Barak and Bob Lake will comprise the outfield.

The battery for the Paper Mill will be Paul and Dave Larson. Ronnie Noel will be at first base. Porky Lindstrom at second, Mickey Kuchenberg at short, and Bob Lehouillier at third base. Don Lehouillier will be in left field, Bill Ferrari in center, and Mike Eugate in right.

The twin bill is a benefit affair and all proceeds will go to the Escanaba Softball association.

Old Timers Begin Play Tuesday Eve

The Old Timers Softball league will get under way in earnest next week with three games scheduled Tuesday evening and three Friday evening.

The Old Timers circuit went through practice games last week and players are eager for real action.

Tuesday night—St. Thomas vs. Birds Eye at Dock; Eagles vs. Clairmont Transfer at Royce; Daily Press vs. Delta Frame at Flat Rock.

Friday night—St. Joe Boosters vs. Clairmont at Memorial field 7 p. m. Press vs. Birds Eye at Memorial field 8:30; St. Thomas vs. Eagles at Royce Park.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

New York (St. Nicholas Arena)—Paddy DeMarco, 136, New York, outpointed Eddie Giosa, 139 1/2, Philadelphia, 10.

Hollywood, Calif.—Fabela Chavez, 126 1/2, Los Angeles, outpointed Harold Dade, 127, Los Angeles, 10.

League-leading Foster City will face cellar-dwelling Daggett in a home stand in the Tri-County league circuit tomorrow afternoon.

The Foster City crew will be seeking its fourth straight Tri-County win, with victories already chalked up over Hermansville, Stephenson and Wilson. Largest crowd of the new season is expected to watch the top and bottom teams tangle on the Foster City diamond.

The Escanaba Bears, pre-season favorites, tasted defeat for the first time on Memorial Day, falling 5-4 to Powers. The Bears will be on the road to Perronville tomorrow seeking a comeback. Perronville also has a record of two wins, one loss.

Manager Phil Brazeau today announced that either Jack Beck or Rusty Hiltonen would get the starting mound assignment. Hiltonen opened against Powers but stepped down late in the game for Beck. Rusty displayed an unusual wildness and had trouble finding the plate.

New Shortstop

A new face will be seen at shortstop with Dean Bailey taking over the spot vacated by Mickey Kuchenberg who left the Bears to play softball this week.

Catcher Jim Nyquist will also be out of action with an injured finger and Tommy Kroll, new utility man, will be busy with high school graduation activities.

Charlie Camps will start behind the plate, Ed Gauthier at first, Ray McDonald at second, Bailey at short, Marc Olson at third, Tom St. Germain, Joe Ricci and a new player, Hughes, in the outfield.

The Bears will face the slants of young Shaffer on the Perronville mound. The youthful chucker is well regarded in Tri-County circles.

Perkins and Cornell made up their rained out contest Memorial Day with Perkins copping a one-sided victory.

With the four unbeaten teams involved in mutual games tomorrow the standings are due for a reshuffle.

Milwaukee, Hoeft Win In Association Play

(By The Associated Press)

Milwaukee climbed into next-to-a tie with Kansas City for the leadership of the American Association on the strength of a 5-0 victory Friday night over the Blues.

The Blues have won 27 games and lost 18. Milwaukee has won 24 and lost 16.

Toledo walloped Columbus 13-0, getting 14 hits off four Red Bird hurlers while 18-year-old Billy Hoeft was allowed just three, and Louisville took Indianapolis, 9-5, pounding out 16 hits for the victors.

Louis, Savold Will Fight Without TV

NEW YORK—(AP)—Joe Louis and Lee Savold will struggle through 15 rounds or less June 13 at the Polo grounds without benefit of radio or television.

The International Boxing Club announced its decision today after a series of conferences among interested managers and prospective sponsors.

Little League Opens June 9

Rosters Of Four Teams Announced

With the 44-foot pitching distance tailor made for Little League pitchers, local managers are working hard to bring the maximum batting power into their line-ups for next Saturday's season opener at Memorial Field.

The 18-game schedule will be divided with the winner of the first half playing the winner of the second half for the league championship and Jaycee trophy. Also on the block will be the Escanaba Bear trophy for the leading hitter and the Cub trophy for the pitcher with the best won and lost record.

Uniforms will be in the hands of the team managers early next week for distribution.

MONDAY PRACTICE

Members of St. Joe Boosters team in the Little League will practice Monday afternoon at 3:30 at Royce diamond, it was announced today. Uniforms will be issued at that time.

Bay De Noc League Returns To Action

Because of the large number of people taking part in the contest the management of the No Name softball team has decided to extend the time limit for naming the team.

The No Names are offering a softball jacket to the person who submits the best team name. Suggestions will be received through Tuesday. Team manager reports that many good suggestions have been received already but no decision has been made as yet.

Final Cub Tryouts Tomorrow Afternoon

Final practice and tryout session for the Escanaba Cubs will be held tomorrow afternoon, weather permitting, at the city diamond. Manager Al Ness said today. Practice will begin at 2.

If weather keeps the team off the field tomorrow the final tryouts will be held Monday evening at 6.

THE UPPER PENINSULA furnished a half dozen players to the Ferris Institute baseball team which won six and lost four this season under the guidance of Coach Frank Karas, former Escanaba.

Ray Menard of Escanaba handled five of the Ferris mound assignments, winning two and losing three. He pitched wins over Elvin (9-4) and (5-2), and lost to Alma (3-2), Grand Rapids Junior College (6-2) and Central (5-2).

U. P. boys on the team are Ernest and Bruno Maule, second year outfielders from Hermansville; Menard, first year pitcher; Francis Revord, third year outfielder from Iron Mountain; Edward Hamar, third year third baseman from Chassell, and Leno Pieropon, first year first baseman from Hermansville, not pictured.

Gladstone Faces Munising Sunday

Booster Game Opens U. P. League Play

GLADSTONE—The Gladstone Redskins' first game in the Upper Peninsula Baseball league is scheduled for Sunday afternoon at 2:30 at the Bayshore diamond with Munising furnishing the opposition. They were scheduled to play at Republic last weekend but the game was washed out by rain.

Sunday's tilt is a Booster event and advance sale of tickets is being held to get team finances on an even keel.

Gladstone is fielding a young team, all but three being graduates from last year's Legion nine.

Three Hurlers

The mound selection will be from a trio: namely, Jim LaLonde, Bill Sunding or Pete Sarasin with either Larry LaPlant or Bob Ritter receiving the slants.

At first will be Ray Alwooden with Dick Pilon at second, Lowell LaPlant at third and Neil Sinclair at shortstop. Other infielders are Dallas Knecht and John DeMentor.

The outfield will be chosen from Lloyd Forvilly, Dick Sidbeck, LeRoy Jacobson, Ted Erickson and Bill Rasmussen.

Marquette plays Humboldt and Ishpeming meets Republic in other league games this weekend.

White Birch Tops American League

The feature of next week's program is Wednesday's doubleheader at Memorial Field which brings together Westby's Service and Harnischfeger at 7 o'clock and the Paper Mill and Power & Light at 8:15. All four teams involved in the twin bill opened the season with championship aspirations and another loss for any one of them would slow up their drive for the top of the American league.

In the meantime, unheralded White Birch, dark horse of the fast loop, has quietly taken over first place with convincing victories over Westby's and Power & Light. With a strong three-man pitching staff and a capable defensive unit, the Flat Rock boys should go far in the tough fast circuit competition.

In the National loop a heavily-favored Clairmont Transfer nine is in first place with two victories and no defeats. If some of the younger teams continue to show improvement they may provide serious competition for the league leaders and the second round should produce some closer games.

Blank Session Not All Fault Of Legislators

Firm GOP Leadership
Lacking In Lansing

By JACK I. GREEN
LANSING — (AP) — Michigan's legislature is being berated for its most useless session in many years—possibly in history—but it should not have to take all the blame.

There are others and other factors contributing to its failures to solve the state's serious problems.

The legislature is composed of a few smart men, a host of mortals as ordinary as you or I, and a few who are stupid or venal. The stupid ones sometimes make so much noise they drown out the smart ones.

Finances Main Problem
Let's look at the other side of the picture for the moment.

1—Most of the state's problems are financial and arise directly from the sales tax diversion amendment, which takes more than 75 per cent of the state's biggest revenue and gives it to the local units of government; in some cases gives it to local units which don't need it and have to invent excuses for spending it.

2—This has led to a deficit of $21,000,000 last year, approaching $35,000,000 this year and predicted at $65,000,000 by the end of next year. In addition, the mounting deficit has caused the steady shrinking of all governmental budgets in the face of mounting costs to the point that many important state services are on the verge of destruction.

3—The legislature doesn't like to impose new taxes, because that is unpopular. Further, it has been so battered by proponents of different tax theories that it can't agree on any one—just as you or I in the same position.

Can't Find Substitute
The legislature's inability to make a decision on taxes stems from these factors:

A—The Republicans control the legislature, but haven't had a strong, informed and respected governor of their own faith to lead them since early 1948 at the latest. A legislature, despite all the talk of separation of powers, needs leadership from the governor's office. In no other way can the screwballs, the selfish and the retails be whipped up to the party line.

B—The G. O. P. has been unable to come up with a workable substitute for the lack of gubernatorial leadership. Its policy committee of last year fell apart on the rocks of conflicting personal interests. Old legislative feuds prevent any one leader from dominating the lawmakers' thinking now.

C—Governor Williams doesn't want to work with the Republican legislature, and it doesn't want to work with him. The G. O. P. thought it could fight him last year and ruin his reelection chances. This year, more foresighted, he has not given it many toe-holds for another fight. The G. O. P. lawmakers have been sullenly waiting for him to take them over, but he doesn't want to. He could, as have other Democratic governors, lure them into agreements, but he apparently prefers to keep the chasm wide so that economic lines in the state may become tightly drawn and his Democratic party emerge as a lasting power.

Confused By Lobbies
Some Republican lawmakers—more than you might imagine—have wanted to go ahead on their own and solve the problems as they thought best, whether it followed Williams' line or not.

E—But the legislature has been so beset by conflicting business lobbies that it cannot achieve sufficient unanimity on any point.

F—The lack of a governor to put the lobbies in their place has allowed the lobbyists to run riot especially in the past session. Many observers believe that in their anxiety to make an immediate record with their employers, in their hunger for today's victory, the lobbies will cost their employers more money in the end, have seriously damaged state government and may have disgusted the average voter with the Republican party.

Thus the legislature itself has gone home disgusted with itself, disgusted with the whipsawing it received from the lobbyists, disgusted with its own, alleged leaders, disgusted with its lack of party guidance, disgusted with Williams.

The legislature is made up of ordinary men overwhelmed by the complexity of its problems, anxious for honest help and not getting it. It wants to get things settled.

It needs a governor of its own party, or a governor of an opposing party who wants to work with it.

Fight Against State Gas Tax Launched By CIO Committee

DETROIT—(AP)—A fight on the new one and a half cent a gallon state gasoline tax was pledged today by the political action committee (PAC) of the state CIO council.

The committee, which met here Friday, voted to ask the state CIO convention, which begins in Detroit Monday, to help sponsor a state-wide referendum on the tax. The referendum, by a state-wide vote of the people—would seek to override the legislature's approval of the tax, which became effective Friday. It was passed over the veto of Governor Williams.

The PAC also voted to support any group taking court action against the tax, which boosts Michigan's total gasoline tax to 4 1/2 cents.

Members expressed the belief that the measure is unconstitutional, since it was passed on a reconsideration, after an earlier veto by Governor Williams had been sustained.

Auto Mishap Fatal To Daughter, 17, Of Michigan Professor

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—(AP)—The daughter of a prominent University of Michigan professor and a companion were killed in an automobile mishap early today.

Barbara Anne Carver, 17, daughter of Prof. Harry C. Carver, and Leo McCarthy, 17, were killed when a car in which they were passengers ran off McGrebor road 14 miles west of here at 1 a. m.

The driver, Harold Beranek, 24, of Ann Arbor, suffered a broken leg. He was taken to St. Joseph's Mercy hospital.

Sheriff's officers said that Barbara Anne and McCarthy were thrown from the car and apparently killed instantly. Both were high school students at Ann Arbor.

Marquette Votes No On School Expansion In Second Election

MARQUETTE — (AP) — Marquette voters yesterday again rejected the public school expansion program, the bonding measure being defeated by 378 votes and the 10-mill levy proposal by 193.

The school building program, which had been trimmed from a 12-mill tax increase to one of 10 mills for yesterday's special election, had called for the enlargement, modernization and relocation of parts of the city's school plant.

The 12-mill measure was turned down by voters during a special school election held in December.

Acheson Says U. S. Planned To Abandon Formosa In 1949

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH
WASHINGTON — (AP) — Secretary of State Acheson says there was general agreement in the government in 1949 that no U. S. aid—short of armed intervention—could save Chinese Nationalist Formosa from the Communists.

And Acheson declares it was United States policy then, as well as earlier and since, that Formosa—still held by the Nationalists—was strategically important to defense of this country.

Secrecy Covers Future Plans Of Allies In Korea

ists in the Reds' second spring drive, from May 16 through May 31.

The defense department in Washington listed Red casualties for the period at 162,000.

"We can whip that Chinese army—any place, anywhere," Van Fleet said. "As I've said many times before, the Chinese army in Korea hasn't got a chance and the best thing for them to do is to go home."

The Reds marched reinforcements into the western sector and put hundreds of trucks on the road to carry supplies south. The traffic provided choice targets for Allied aircraft last night.

"The greatest number of vehicles destroyed during night operations was reported when 110 were permanently put out of action by fifth air force planes," Far East air forces announced. "Heavy damage was inflicted on about 40 others."

The Reds showed determination to fight for the triangle area. From it, roads fan out in every direction. The base of the triangle is 15 miles north of the Parallel and the Apex 29 miles north.

Allied probes in this area in April lighted the fuse to the unsuccessful Chinese Communist spring offensive.

Studebaker Employees Get 3-Cents An Hour Living Cost Pay Lift

SOUTH BEND, Ind.—(AP)—A three-cent-an-hour cost-of-living adjustment will be given 18,000 employees of Studebaker Corp.

Studebaker officials announced today that the wage increase will become effective with the pay period beginning next Monday.

The adjustment is to compensate for a rise in living costs during the period from Jan. 15 to April 15.

The three-cent boost is for hourly rated employees. But company officials said comparable wage adjustments will also be granted eligible salaried employees.

The hourly rated employees will receive the increase under terms of an agreement signed last September by Studebaker and Local No. 5, CIO United Auto Workers.

Illness Of British King Causes Worry

LONDON — (AP) — Ailing King George VI, who has contracted a lung inflammation, is causing his doctors and family considerable worry, court circles report.

One diplomat who saw the 55-year-old monarch recently after an interval of several months said he seemed "strained, tired and aged."

Palace physicians said the king, who has been under treatment for the past week for influenza, is now suffering from a small catarrhal inflammation of a lung. They said it is a slight form of pneumonia.

A court spokesman said the king's brother, the Duke of Gloucester, may have to act for him next week when King Haakon of Norway pays a state visit to this country.

acknowledged to Federal Judge Frank A. Picard Friday that she pocketed the difference between her employees' actual earnings, and the amounts she posted on quarterly reports.

position, the secretary says, even though it advised its consular officers Dec. 23, 1949, that the Pacific island had "no special military significance."

The reason for that, Acheson said, was to "minimize the damage to the prestige of the United States x x x should Formosa fall."

He added:

"I don't know any other attitude which would be sounder to take if you believed as we did believe—and rightly believed—that an event was going to happen which would be damaging to our prestige, than to say keep your chin up, it doesn't matter, this isn't important, we will go ahead and deal with it in some other way."

"That is what is behind this whole document."

No Longer Secret

Acheson made those statements yesterday to the Senate armed services and foreign relations committees investigating Far Eastern policy and the dismissal of Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Overriding Acheson's protests that Russia would benefit, the committees made the 1949 state department document public by a 15 to 9 vote.

Five Democrats lined up with 10 Republicans in favor of releasing the memorandum. Eight Democrats and one Republican—Senator Morse of Oregon—voted to keep it secret.

The document said that in 1949 the Communists were trying "to get us involved in a risky and unpromising venture" in Formosa.

It said there was "a mistaken conception of its strategic importance to U. S. defense in the Pacific," and added:

"Loss of the island is widely anticipated, and the manner in which civil and military conditions there have deteriorated adds weight to the expectation."

Civil War Sea Battle To Be Renacted For 3 Southern Veterans

NORFOLK, Va. — (AP) — Three of the thousands of Confederate troops who fought on land will witness today a re-enactment of a Civil War naval engagement.

The navy has built scale replicas of the "Merrimack" and "Monitor"—the ironclad forerunners of today's mighty battleships—and will re-enact the historic battle.

Witnessing the show to be manned by navy personnel will be three 105-year-old gentlemen who are holding the final reunion of the United Confederate veterans: John Salling, of Slant, Va.; William Joshua Bush, of Fitzgerald, Ga.; and William D. Townsend, of Olla, La.

The big event in the five-day show yesterday was the official opening and dedication of the Jefferson Davis casemate at Fort Monroe, where Davis was held prisoner for five months.

Sign Of Cross Saves Veteran

Capital Policemen
Halt 10-Story Leap

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A 35-year-old Korean war veteran who threatened to jump from a tenth-floor hotel window early today relaxed his vigilance to make the sign of the cross and was grabbed and saved by two Washington policemen.

Pvt. Maurice W. McClanahan, one of the captors, said the would-be suicide was Lt. Thomas W. Grant, father of two young children, of New York City.

Grant was taken to the Army's Walter Reed hospital after his rescue. The army doctor who interviewed him there said he is a patient at Valley Forge Army hospital, outside Philadelphia, and came to Washington yesterday afternoon on leave. The doctor said Grant is suffering from "severe combat reaction."

Old Memories Aroused

There, the doctor said, Grant met a fellow officer and Korean veteran. The meeting "stirred up old memories," apparently plunging Grant into a suicidal depression.

McClanahan and Pvt. Frank M. Manthos spent over an hour in Grant's room trying to talk him out of jumping. They described him as "nice looking," of medium height and build, with light colored hair, and dressed only in army trousers, socks and shoes.

McClanahan gave this account: About 2:45 a. m. (EST) Grant called the room clerk of downtown Harrington hotel and said he was going to jump from his tenth floor window. The clerk called the police.

Five minutes later McClanahan and Manthos were outside Grant's door. Grant said they could come in the room, but not to come near him. When they tried to edge up, Grant swung both feet and legs out the window and warned:

"Don't come closer—I'll jump if you do."

The policemen talked to Grant about himself. The only explanation Grant would give for his desire to jump was that he was "disturbed" and that he had been in Korea. Grant told them he had been in the army ten years, and had been commissioned from the ranks.

Priest Called In

The police learned Grant had children three years old and one year old. They did not know where his wife and children were.

They talked to him steadily, mostly about his children. They learned Grant was a member of the Roman Catholic church and called the Rev. Patrick J. Nagle to come to the room.

Father Nagle recited the rosary. The two policemen edged to within two feet of Grant as the priest went through the prayers. As the priest closed, Grant lifted the hand with which he might have pushed himself out of the window, to bless himself with the sign of the cross.

McClanahan and Manthos leaped, catching Grant about the waist.

He "fought a little" then let himself be dragged in.

in the case. An earlier trial ended in a deadlocked jury. Patterson now must face a third jury.

He is accused of first degree murder in the stabbing of Willie Mitchell, another Negro, in a tavern brawl last Dec. 20. He has contended he acted in self defense.

Truman Message Branded Meddling By Press In Iran

By FRED M. ZUSY

TEHRAN, Iran — (AP) — Fever-ridden Premier Mohammed Mossadegh reportedly left his sickbed today to address a secret session of the Iranian senate. Informants said he read the text of a letter from President Truman urging negotiation of the explosive oil crisis.

Observers here doubt that Truman's personal intervention will cool the frenzy of Nationalist extremists who are determined to drive the British-controlled Anglo-Iranian Oil Company out of the country.

An Iranian editor said most of the press probably will attack the president's message as direct interference in Iran's affairs.

The letter was delivered to Mossadegh yesterday afternoon by U. S. Ambassador Henry F. Grady. The premier is reported to have conferred with his cabinet immediately afterwards but no details of the meeting were made public.

Mr. Truman also wrote a personal letter to Prime Minister Clement Attlee of Britain. (London reports said the message urged Britain to satisfy some of Iran's demands.)

The U. S. is reportedly worried that Iran's giant neighbor, Soviet Russia, may take advantage of the unrest and confusion to extend its influence in the Middle East. This could take the form of direct intervention in North Iran or perhaps a substitute of Russian technicians for British in the southern oil concessions.

Two Big Steamboats
Stage 3-Mile Race
With Dixieland Jazz

PITTSBURGH—(AP)—Two giant steamboats, relics of America's glorious past, race up the Ohio and Monongahela rivers today, their paddle wheels churning the waters to the hot rhythms of Dixieland jazz.

The three-mile race (scheduled for 3 p. m. EST) will be witnessed by an expected crowd of 250,000. And to the winner goes a trophy valued at $25,000.

The race climaxes Pittsburgh's annual "welcome week."

The Homestead, owned by the United States Steel Corporation, twice has won the prize since the race was inaugurated two years ago. And U. S. Steel has predicted the Homestead is a cinch to repeat.

The William Larimer Jones, owned by the Jones and Laughlin Steel Corp., was the loser both times.

Each steamboat will push four barges. Each will carry a Dixieland jazz band on its deck to provide atmosphere of the old Mississippi river boating days.

Too Eager Applicant For Postmaster Job Is Arrested Instead

DETROIT—(AP) — Julian Zachowski was too eager. Instead of getting the job of postmaster at Newport, Mich., he got arrested.

It happened this way: Zachowski, who had placed third on the examination, was acting postmaster. Through the mails came a letter addressed to another applicant.

Temptation, Zachowski said in federal court here Friday, was too much. He opened the letter to see what it said.

The applicant noticed that the letter had been opened. He tipped off postal inspectors. Other official-looking letters were sent to other applicants. They, too, were opened.

Zachowski was arrested, and pleaded guilty in federal court to a charge of opening mail without authority. The offense carries a penalty of a year in prison or a $100 fine or both.

"I knew I was due to get the job, but when the others got those letters, my curiosity just overcame me," he told Assistant U. S. District Attorney James S. Soltesz.
